

Location

Exploring is great. It's how we find our bushcraft resources such as water or fire wood. But you also need to know how to find your way back home.

1

Look for landmarks, the bigger the better. These are interesting things that you'll remember and recognize when you see them again.

2

Look back regularly to see what your route looks like from the other direction. That's what your journey will look like on the way back.

A compass shows which way you are heading.

Next time you go exploring, make a map with all your landmarks on it.
